Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unparalleled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

KNIGHTS AT RICHMOND.

NOT MUCH BUSINESS DONE AT THE SECOND SESSION.

The Large Representation a Drawback to the Work—Manufacturers Taking an Active Interest in the Proceedings—Delegates Requested by Mr. Powderly to Avoid the Following Error.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 6.—It was after 10 o'clock Tuesday morning when the delegates to the Knights of Labor convention assembled in the assembly hall, although the hour for meeting was fixed at 9. Grand Master Powderly did not enter the hall until 10:30 o'clock.
He was followed by members of the executive board. Each carried a bundle of documents bearing upon future work of the convention. The delay in assembling was due to a report that the committee on credentials which was in session until after 2 o'clock Tuesday morning had not completed its labors and therefore could not be reported until Tuesday afternoon. When the convention was called to order in secret session it was officially announced that the committee on credentials was yet to be heard with respect to a report that the Rock Island delegates had for a part at the afternoon session.

Mr. Powderly strongly urged the delegates to avoid the use of strong drink while in Richmond. An individual, however, had no right to dictate to what they should do, but they were not here as individuals but as representatives of a vast constituency. The eyes of the world were upon them while here, and their conduct would be judged by their conduct.

Very shortly after the convention opened at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the committee on credentials submitted its report. It was reported that the Rock Island delegates had been admitted as an independent non-district and non-sectarian body from the jurisdiction of district No. 4.

There is a determination on the part of the officers and a majority of the delegates to adopt some plan which will control what thinks to be a very long, tedious and possibly heated session. The aim of the plan is to get through by the end of the week if possible, and avoid all contention which is likely to arise during the session.

It is understood that many of the delegates are in the country here to do some work. Mr. Powderly, Secretary Turner and others prominent in the management of the organization have received many communications from our countrymen suggesting, but the exact nature of the suggestions has not been ascertained, as they have not been before the delegates.

gates are in the country here to do some

gesting, but the exact nature of the sug-
before the delegates.

There was but one general topic of discussion among the knights Tuesday, and that was in relation to the controversy held by two or three of the delegates in regard to the entertainment of colored delegates at hotels.
Representatives of district No. 4, who were refused accommodation because of their number (Powderly is a colored man, and boarding at a hotel run by a colored man and occupying quarters over a literally stable, while the Baltimore district representatives are congratulating themselves that they had their way at the St. Charles by including the colored delegates in their party, drawal, to entertain Joseph Edwards, one of their colored delegates. The object in making open impartial reception to colored knights is the desire to impress the colored laborers with the sincerity of leaders of the organization and to work its way south where the greatest number of accessions to membership is reported during last year. The gentlemen but firm manner in which the knights have asserted themselves has made a very favorable impression and has received not only the enthusiastic commendation of the colored people but also of the laboring white.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

All the lumber mills save one at East Towas, Mich., have shut down for want of logs.

Four grocers were fined $50 each Monday at Cincinnati for violating the state bottle law.

President Cleveland has directed the commissioner of the General Land Office, United States land at Alaska, Alaska.

A number of cattle recently purchased at Baltimore have died near Harrisburg, Pa., of what is supposed to be Texas fever.

Up to Oct. 1 there had been shipped in round numbers, 2,500,000 gross tons of transportation from the harbors of Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

The Rev. Thomas Wilson, an abolitionist and Methodist pastor at Palatine, Cook county, Ill., expired Sunday night in the 76th year of age.

Edward F. Moore, a colored man, has brought suit for $10,000 damages for having been ejected from the Washington Park club house, Chicago, a few days ago on account of his color.

The Fortanville Coal-Operating Mining company has failed for $10,000, and the property will be sold this week under foreclosure.

All the shoe-makers are miners, and labor troubles are said to have caused the disaster.

A cattle disease, which proves fatal in a few hours, has broken out in Elm Grove township, Tazewell county, Ill. A discharge from the city is first noticed, then the herd begins to sicken and die, and finally, unless the affected animal.

John C. Schwartz, prosecuting attorney, was ordered arrested in the police court at Cincinnati Monday for contempt. Schwartz and a witness, resistance, and it took a dozen officers to place him in a cell, the affair creating the wildest confusion in the court room.

At Deer Creek, Ind., Sunday night, an attempt was made to break William Walker, who is accused of knowing something about the abduction of Miss Lou Mallitt. Walker was hustled into a buggy and driven off at breakneck speed, thus frustrating the plan of the regulators.

In 1881 Henry Jamaica, a young man, disappeared from the insane asylum at Indian apolis, and, as he could not be traced, was assumed to be dead. He had been killed in the asylum and secretly buried. Sunday however, he turned up at his home in Counterpoint, Ind. but is still insane, and can give no account of himself. His return has caused some excitement in the community.

TWENTY-TWO LIVES LOST.

The Steamer La Mascotte Bursts Her Boiler on the Mississippi.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The steamer La Mascotte, plying between St.
Louis and Cape Girardeau, on the Mississippi river, exploded her boiler about noon at Neely's Landing, a few miles below Grand Tower, Ill. The first information came from Cape Girardeau, where the towboat Eagle arrived with the victims. The Eagle had on board thirty-five of the passengers and the crew of the steamer La Mascotte. She also brought down the bodies of three children and one woman, victims of the disaster. It is thought that between eighteen and twenty-two lives were lost, but only a partial list is obtainable at present, the passenger register being missing. The following, however, are among those believed to be dead: Judge William Hager and wife, of Cape Girardeau. Miss (Krieger), daughter of Christ Krieger. Mrs. William H. Wheeler and two children. Fritz Lind, son of Theobald Lind, all of Cape Girardeau.
Charles Ansel, colored. Two chambermaids employed on the boat and one lady unknown. The bodies of three children and one of the chambermaids were recovered.

Captain Elanub, of the eagle, says his boat was in sight when the explosion occurred, and that he rendered all the assistance possible and rescued about thirty-five persons. He thinks there were others saved and cared for by the people on shore. The La Mascotte burned to the water's edge, floated down, and lodged at the shore about a mile below Willard's landing. Nothing definite can be learned as to the cause of the disaster.
She was built four months ago.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE.

Why It Was Necessary for Mr. Bondet to Quit His Office.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—When Mr.
Bondet took charge of the government printing office there were 2,400 names on the rolls. Mr. Bondet thought it would be necessary to discharge 600 or perhaps 800 employees in order to bring the expenses of the office within the appropriation, but having discharged 500 he has decided that he can stop. He thinks he can make the appropriation last for nine months. There is, however, a great deal of work to be done, and Mr. Bondet may find it necessary to ask congress for a deficiency appropriation or leave over a good deal of work ordered by congress.

Mr. Bondet has been criticised for increasing the force at the printing-office beyond what the money at his command justified, but Mr. Bondet was practically compelled to do this. Year by year congress demands more and more printing, but the appropriations committees manifest alarm at the amount of money called for, and cut down the estimates. When the commissioner of agriculture complained that his reports were not issued, Mr. Bondet easily showed congress that the reason was that he did not have money enough to do the work with. He called the attention of congress very sharply to the fact that immediately increased quantities of printing were being demanded of the office, but the money to pay for the work was not voted.

Mr. Bondet kept the force in the printing-office as large as he could in order to meet as promptly as possible the demands made by congress, and he was eminently successful in this.
